*P3a. Description: The building at 1195 Cochran Road A (APN: 728-037-002) is a single story, Craftsman Style building constructed in 1930. The building is a vernacular example of the Craftsman Style that was common from 1905-1930. The building has a: front gabled, composite shingle, low-pitched roof; aluminum windows with wood casings; stucco exterior; and a front porch centered on the building with a low-pitched roof, matching the roof line of the building, supported by wood posts. The building is well maintained and appears to have been remodeled. There is a wood shed at the rear of the building and a tank house opposite the front of the building. The shed is used as a dog kennel and for storage. The tank house was built in 1930, and is two-stories in height with a metal roof, clapboard siding, and sections of wood panel siding designed to mimic clapboard. There also are sheds attached to the side and the rear of the tank house (see Continuation sheet).

B4. Present Use: Residence

*B5. Architectural Style: The building is a vernacular example of the Craftsman Style, which was common from 1905-1930.

*B6. Construction History: The Santa Clara County Assessor's Office does not have any information regarding this residence at 1195 Cochrane Road A (APN: 728-037-002). The current owner of the property reports that the residence was built in 1930. The residence has been remodeled/reconstructed since it was built, including replacement of the original roof, installation of aluminum-framed windows, and probably replacement or repair of the stucco exterior.

*B7. Moved? ☒ No ☐ Yes ☐ Unknown Date:
Original Location:

*B8. Related Features: There is a wood shed at the rear of the building used as a dog kennel and for storage. There also is a tank house opposite the front entrance to the residence. The current owner of the property reports that the tank house was built in 1930. The tank house is relatively well maintained and exhibits evidence of repair. Sheds were also added to the side and rear of the structure. The design and construction of the tank house is typical of this type of structure, and it does not exhibit any unique elements of design or construction.

b. Builder: Unknown

*B10. Significance: Theme: Residential Development

Area: Morgan Hill, CA

Period of Significance: 1920-1950

Property Type: Residential

Applicable Criteria: N/A: The property is evaluated as ineligible for inclusion in the California Register of Historical Resources (CRHR).

The residence and tank house at 1195 Cochrane Road A do not appear to meet any of the eligibility criteria presented in CEQA at §15064.5(a)(3) for inclusion in the CRHR. Historic investigation of the property does not suggest that: it is associated with any significant events in regional or local history; it is associated with any persons significant in history; it embodies distinctive characteristics of type, period, or method of construction; or it is likely that additional research regarding the property would produce significant new information about the residential or agricultural development of the area. Therefore, the property does not appear to meet any of the eligibility criteria for inclusion in the CRHR.

The integrity (e.g., design, workmanship, materials, setting, association, and feeling) of the residence also has been compromised. The roof, windows, and probably the exterior of the building have been replaced. In addition, most of the architectural elements (e.g., decorative beams under the eaves) that typify the Craftsman Style are not present on the building. These elements probably were removed during remodeling/reconstruction of the building. In addition, the residence is surrounded by new residential and commercial developments and is adjacent to Highway 101.
